

MSF's new media server can be found at

<http://media.msf.org>

This database of digital assets contains MSF's international collection of photos, video and audio recordings. As of December 2011, it contains:

- 80,000 photos, dating back to 1968
- 800 video productions, most produced after 2007
- 200 audio productions, most produced after 2007

New material is being added all the time, as well as archive material of historical and institutional interest.

The database is for all MSF Staff, in the field and in offices worldwide. It was created to help us share resources, and make our material as accessible as possible across the movement.

It is also available, in a restricted form, to non-MSF staff such as members of the media, researchers, staff of other NGOs, academics and students.

The media server is jointly managed by administrators in different sections. A smaller group of 'Core Admins' – experts in photo, video and audio – control the quality of the material in the database and ensure all material is well labelled.

Core administrators will typically be located in Operational Centres, or offices that generate and commission a lot of photographic and audiovisual material.

THE FOCUS

17.09.2013 Edit

Swaziland, Born HIV Free

In Swaziland, 26 per cent of the population aged between 15 and 49 is HIV-positive.

In 2007, Swaziland approached Médecins Sans Frontières (MSF) to ask for help in the fight against HIV and Tuberculosis and MSF started a project with the Ministry of Health (MoH). In February 2013 in Swaziland, MSF started rolling out an innovative approach called PMTCT B+ with HIV-positive pregnant and breastfeeding women.

Swaziland - Born HIV-free

Magyagya Zwane, a MSF Community Expert Patient, explains his experience. "It's very simple for me to encourage a person testing for HIV. I always tell the people to look at me: I'm healthy, I'm living okay, so it is very easy to convince them. Once a person has tested, I always refer them to the clinic for their next steps."

Search

Our media archive offers a variety of search functionality, whether you are initiating a search or wanting to refine your results.

The search box appears at the top right of all pages, enabling you to run search easily from wherever you are.

The Advanced Search function can be accessed by clicking the link just below the search box and includes functions to help filter your search by date range, country, keyword, picture orientation, photographer, etc. You can also save searches and set the sort order for your search results.

When typing in the search field, a number of suggested search terms will appear that correspond to our captions and keywords. Keywords are applied to all of our images to enable better searching. (*) your search terms will be displayed across the top of the results page, with the number of results for each media type displayed in the Refine Search filter column to the left. By default, this will be set to All Results for each search, but you can filter this to just view photos, videos or audio. The number in brackets is the number of search results that will be displayed if the filter is selected.

For example, if you type malaria, you will see the relevant search terms: malaria, malaria drug, malaria medicine, malaria net, etc. You can either choose one from the list or continue writing your own search terms.

There are also a number of other search filters to help refine your search by Category, Continent, Country, Photographer, etc.

Sorting Your Search

The Sort Order of picture results can be displayed from Newest to Oldest or by Ranking, which is a sort order determined by our editors to show the best images rather than the latest. You can change your sort order at any time

All new pictures and videos are keyworded upon upload to the system. A big part of our older, historical images have basic keywords attached to them, this part of our collection is being updated with more detailed keywords over time.

All packages are keyworded too with the main themes, subject matter and country.

Packages

Pictures & videos often come in packages, grouped by theme or by reportage

In our database we group files into packages. There are currently two types of packages available: Albums and Stories.

It's important to understand the difference and how we agreed on using them. Both packages can be found/seen on the user side. Albums can be published on the homepage, Stories not. In fact, the different sections on the homepage are albums itself.

An album is a set of files that have a common element that requires them to be assembled in a package for easy access. This could be a set of photos, videos and audio files that are selected for use in a campaign or an emergency.

A story groups all the files from a single trip or reportage so they can easily be found. The purpose being mainly for archiving, this package contains just those photos and/or videos that were shot on a single trip by one cameraman/expat.

It's like a binder with the original slides, or a folder on a computer with all the files from a camera from a specific trip. A photographer/cameraman may have travelled multiple times to a certain project, documenting our work over time, but in that case each trip would be grouped into its own story.

The screenshot shows a search results page for 'Malaria' on the MSF website. The page is titled 'Search results: Malaria - Sort By: Ranking'. It features a grid of search results, each with a thumbnail image and a brief description. The results include various topics such as 'Malaria in Mali Press Images', 'JONGLEI STATE, SOUTH SUDAN - VIOLENCE DEVASTATING PEOPLE'S LIVES', 'MALARIA COMES ON TOP OF A FOOD CRISIS', and 'Urgence ROC: MSF se mobilise contre le paludisme en province Orientale'. The page also includes navigation options like 'Print', 'Ranking', and 'Standard', and a 'Page 1 of 82' indicator.

Manage your pictures

From your lightbox you have complete control of your selections

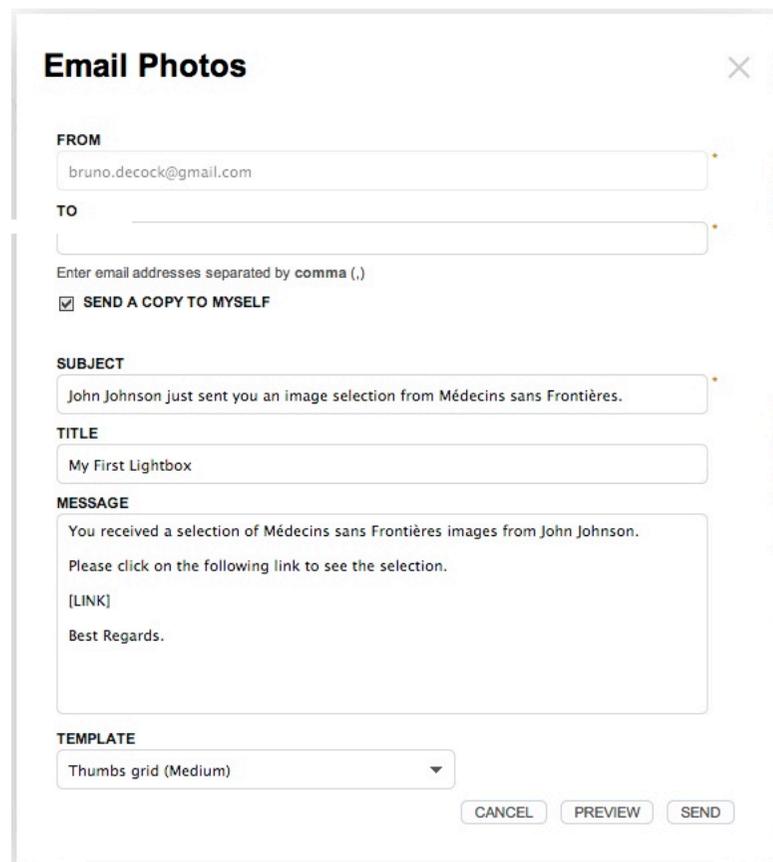

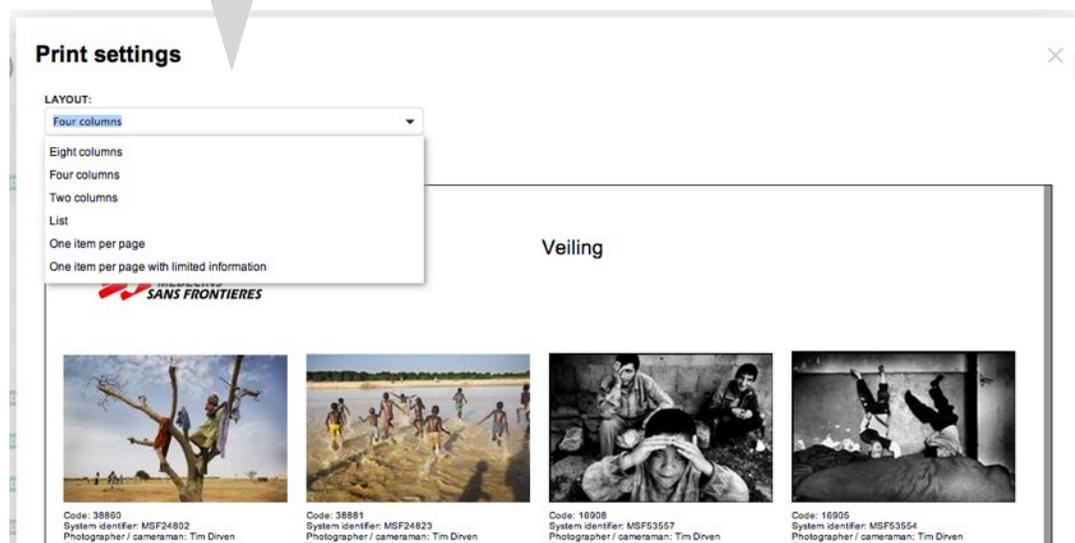

Manage your selection by adding and removing images, email images, request images, print images and captions using flexible formats. You can also save as pdf

Instantly share your lightbox by emailing your search results to a colleague, either as a link or a slideshow. Alternatively, you can send it to yourself and manage distribution from your own email account.

Use sharing options to collaborate in real time within a lightbox.

Create a contact sheet of images and captions at various sizes. Save or open as a pdf before printing.

Download / request a Single Picture

When you've made your selection, downloading your picture is quick and easy

If you are a staff user, you should have direct access to downloading images and video..

To request a different version of a single image/video, click request download on the picture/video panel.

An authorization panel will then appear. Select the specific details related to the intended usage of the image.

Clicking Request Authorization sends your request to one of our representatives who will review your request and validate/reject it depending on the license of the image/video in question.

Description:
Djaba Keita lives five minutes by foot from the CSCOM (health center) of Narena. However, she would not have come so quickly if she had to pay. Her son Mambi has been ill for only one day. In the past she would probably have waited until the last minute before coming for treatment. A rapid screening test confirms in 15 minutes the presence of Plasmodium Falciparum in Mambi's blood. This is the third time he has caught malaria since he was born. At 12 months his generation has the luck to have free access to quality treatment. Once again, Djaba Keita will only have to show her prescription to the sales depot to receive the dose of CTA and paracetamol against the fever. Three days' later, Mambi will be completely cured.
